

Abstract

A washing device (18) designed for at least partial cleaning and/or care and/or disinfection of a human foot is presented and described. According to the invention, the washing device (18) has at least one plate-shaped base body (17) and at least one cleaning body (25) connected to the base body (17), the cleaning body (25) being designed for cleaning and/or care and/or disinfection of at least parts of the human foot, and the base body (17) being arranged on the ground.